

No Monkey Mutiny Likely on This Fine Island

MONKEY BUSINESS—This may look like an advertisement for "Mutiny on the Bounty," but it's really a sketch of the proposed new monkey island at Lincoln park zoo, which will be built, if and when the federal government allocates money for the zoo improvement project. Monkeys will find the mast of the wrecked ship an ideal playground. The island will be oval-shaped and 80 feet long and will be far enough below ground level to make the distance between its floor and the top of its wall 13 feet. Plans call for a 17½-foot mast.
